

MST40222 Certificate IV in Apparel and Fashion (Garment Construction, Design and Patternmaking)

New Futures Training provides nationally-accredited vocational training and employment support for people from migrant, refugee and asylum seeker backgrounds.

As a not-for-profit, community organisation we are committed to creating opportunities for diverse communities. Our courses are industry focused, language supported and affordable. Our trainers come from diverse backgrounds with extensive industry experience.

Course overview

The Certificate IV in Apparel and Fashion aims to level up your existing technical production skills and knowledge while adding business and design outcomes to get you ready for design, construction and merchandising management roles. As a student in this program, you'll gain a working knowledge of design fundamentals and prototyping, bespoke garment making, and other advanced technical skills, as well as industry knowledge and the use of computing technology for textile outcomes. Whether you are currently working in the sector or are simply upskilling, the program will give you essential skills which can be put to good use in clothing design, production and alteration.
